

CARE Partnership Award 2018

of CARE Deutschland e.V.

to the "Advocacy and Policy Institute" (API) (Cambodia)

for its great contribution to supporting rural communities in Cambodia by improving quality of and access to education, health care and communal services and poverty reduction.

API is one of CARE's 27 partner organizations realizing the „Implementation of Social Accountability Framework" project in Cambodia.

The project aims to strengthen civil society by providing information on standards in health services, primary schools and local government and enables them to claim their rights towards these service providers and develop joint action plans to improve the delivery of these communal services.

API is one of the key figures in the successful implementation and monitoring of this project by providing technical support and in depth knowledge about empowering communities as well as informing the citizens. API underlines its important impact on the project on a daily basis.

The entire staff is working highly professionally and with vibrant energy to mobilize hidden talents and raise the faith of the rural villagers to believe in their abilities to obtain change.

With its determined and modern management and organizational structure API also serves as a strong role model for other national organizations.

API helps the poor to find and use their voices to improve their lives and therefore is a bright example of the heart of CARE's work.
